K. P. KABINETS produce a quality line of modular cabinetry that has been specifically designed for the demanding environments of educational and medical facilities.

Our cabinets are ideal for institutional use because they are durably crafted from high-pressure plastic laminate. They are virtually damage resistant and maintenance free. They come in an attractive range of colors and wood grains to complement any decor.

The many standardized sizes and styles in this catalogue can be assembled into an almost endless number of configurations. If required, special modifications are also available to customize our cabinets even further.

SPECIFICATIONS:

Cabinets shall be constructed of high pressure laminate panels in accordance with NEMA standards. Substrate shall be particle board with a density of not less than 45 lbs/cubic foot and moisture content not to exceed 8%. All exposed edges shall be edged with high pressure laminate. Cases to be assembled with butt joints utilizing mechanical fasteners completely concealed when cabinet is assembled, resulting in a sturdy unit with clean lines and no rough exposed fastening devices, nails, or screws (clips and pins or dowels). BBX Plywood can be substituted for particle board substrate if required.

Drawer boxes shall be constructed of hardwood plywood with a separate drawer front. Drawer bottoms shall be let into front, back and sides. Drawer box to be finished with a clear sealer. Institutional type metal drawer sides with nylon ball-bearing rollers shall be furnished for each drawer.

Hinges for cabinet doors shall be heavy duty institutional type five knuckle, tight pin construction or fully concealed European style.

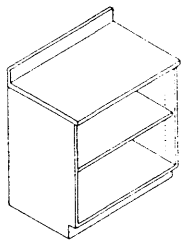

Counter tops shall be 1/16" high pressure laminate over particle board (or plywood) substrate with .020 balancing sheet on back with 1 1/4" overall thickness. Back-splash shall be same as top except 3/4" overall thickness. Top and backsplash shall be self edged high pressure laminate.

Locks, when provided, shall be five pin tumbler with provision for master-keying, if required.

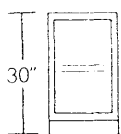

Movable cabinets shall have heavy duty casters with locking devices on two casters. Mobile-storage wall units shall have the casters mounted on sub-base supporting the entire cabinet.
